

Landcare & Community Groups

Landcare groups can work directly with Grow West in securing funds for projects, liaising with landholders, planning and conducting tree planting days and raising local community awareness. Other community groups can also participate and contribute in various ways towards the Grow West vision.

Visit www.growwest.com.au for information on Landcare and community groups in the area and opportunities to work together.

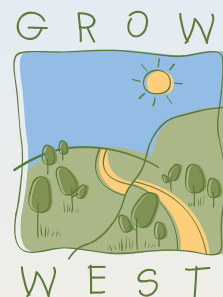

Investors

Close to Melbourne, Grow West has a substantial public profile, both locally and statewide.

Grow West

Grow West is creating major biolinks, healthy waterways, healthy soils and resilient ecosystems in the Upper Werribee Catchment, 50km west of Melbourne. It is an ambitious program of landscape renewal which over the past decade has proven to be one of Victoria's largest revegetation projects.

Grow West's vision is to rejuvenate 10,000 hectares of land by creating links between the Brisbane Ranges National Park, the Lerderderg Gorge State Park and the Werribee Gorge State Park.

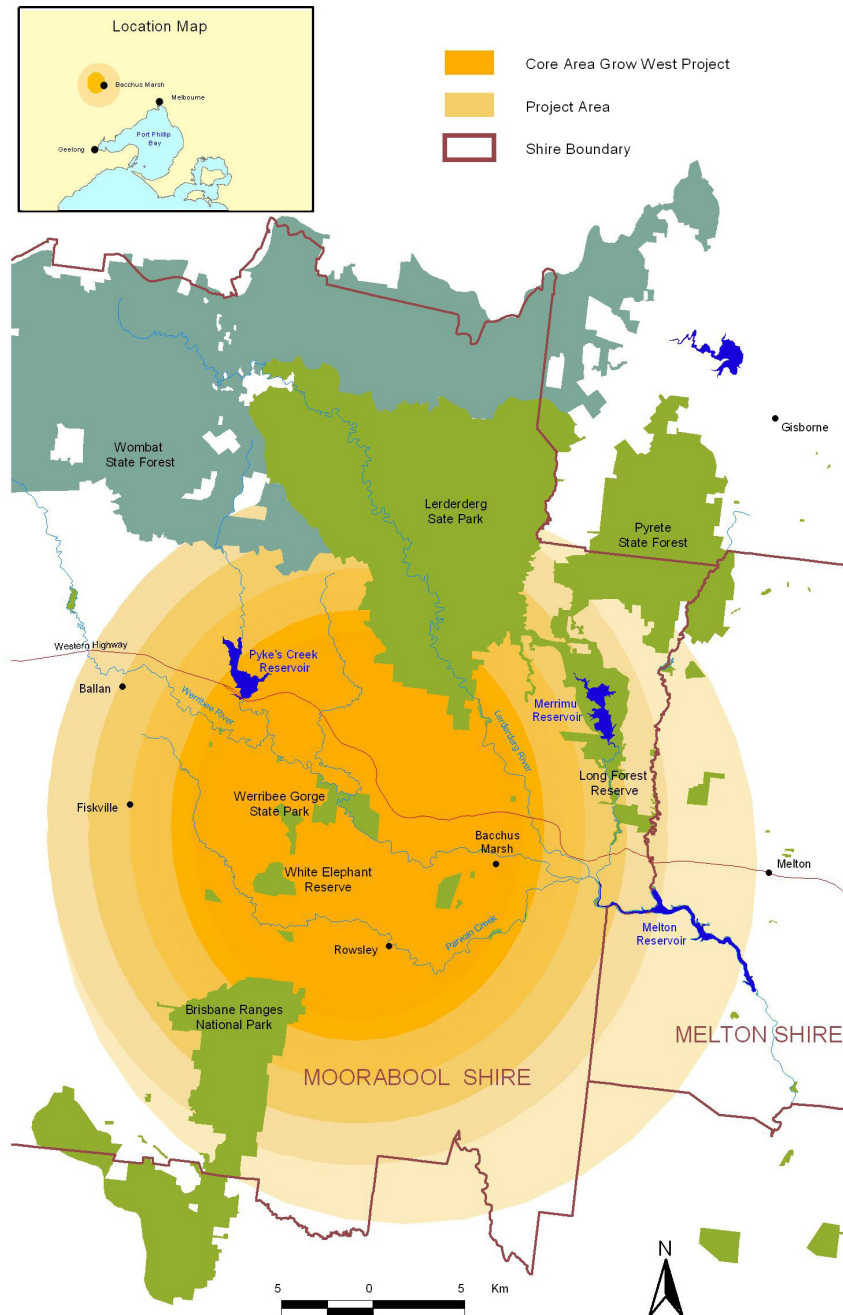

It aims to enhance biodiversity, reduce the spread of noxious weeds, improve landholder skills, protect profitable farming land, reduce erosion and improve local amenity. Grow West brings together hundreds of committed landowners, community representatives, project partners and investors to achieve this.

Grow West will see Melbourne's western landscapes transformed into beautiful, productive and sustainable areas – a living space for native plants and animals alongside thriving local communities with a great future.

Get involved

If you are a local landholder or a potential investor, we invite you to be part of this exciting project to create a better, greener future for Melbourne's western landscapes.

Landholders

Grow West is revegetating thousands of hectares of land. This requires the cooperation and active participation of hundreds of local landholders.

Grow West offers a variety of financial incentives to landholders which makes it economically attractive to undertake works. The Grow West team can also assist by engaging skilled professionals to make it easier for landholders.

Grow West runs events, field days and training to help landowners work together and share resources. These cover topics such as noxious weeds, rabbits, erosion and waterway management.

Visit www.growwest.com.au for incentive opportunities and upcoming events.
